Dr. Michelle Andersen and her team are passionate about modern general dentistry and providing a welcoming, fun environment for the whole family. Her practice, Fells Point Dental, has offered state-of-the-art services in the Baltimore area for the last 13 years and received recognition as a DentalQual EliteStar Practice for their excellent treatment outcomes. Dr. Andersen is a Baltimore native and received her training at University of Maryland School of Dentistry and completed a year of residency at the VAMC at Perry Point in conjunction with University of Maryland's School of Dentistry. This is her third year winning the Top Dentist award from Baltimore magazine, in addition to Best Dentist 2025 in Baltimore Style magazine.

Dr. Alicia Grooms received her training at University of Maryland School of Dentistry and completed a clerkship treating patients with special needs. She received the Best Dentist Award 2025 from Baltimore Style magazine.

Dr. Jennifer Chitilian is a Toronto native and received her training at the University of Toronto. She received the SILVER Best Dentist award from Halton Hills Reader's Choice while practicing in Toronto.

All three doctors love to see children and strive to create an experience for young people that fosters a lifelong comfort with preventative care.

The practice has a specific focus on digital dentistry enabling them to provide exceptional cosmetic and restorative treatments with the utilization of onsite cone beam CT imaging, digital impression systems, 3D printing, and milling systems. The practice utilizes this technology to create same day crowns, teeth replacements (dentures and flippers), retainers, night guards, and fully guided implant placements. The team is also passionate about giving back to their community and hosts an annual free dentistry day for their fellow Baltimoreans in need of dental care. More information can be found on their website as well as Instagram (@fellspointdental).
